THE SUPREME COURT.

The death of Chief Justice Waite will cause a good deal of anxious thought on the part of many democratic jurists who will naturally have an eye on the highest judicial seat in the nation. It is not a position that many will have the boldness to openly seek after, and still there are a goodly number of prominent democrats who would dearly like to fill the place once occupied by such illustrious men as Chase, Marshall, and Jay. As high in honor and responsibility as the chief justiceship is, it has nevertheless been declined by Roscoe Conkling and Timothy O. Howe, when President Grant tendered the place to each of them after the death of Chase in 1873.

The members of the court and the date of their appointment are as follows: John M. Harlan, of Kentucky, who has been on the bench since November 29, 1877; Stanley Matthews, of Ohio, May 12, 1881; Horace Gray, of Massachusetts, December 20, 1881; Samuel Blatchford, of New York, March 22d, 1882; and Lucius Q. C. Lamar, of Mississippi, January 17, 1888. It is an interesting fact that with Justice Waite there have only been six chief justices since the establishment of the court in 1789. The names of the justices and their second term of service are here given: John Jay, from 1789 to 1795; Oliver Ellsworth, from 1795 to 1801; John Marshall, from 1801 to 1835; Roger Brooke Taney, from 1835 to 1864; Salmon Portland Chase, from 1864 to 1873; and Morrison R. Waite, from 1873 to 1888.

It has been suggested by the Evening Wisconsin, that the death of Justice Waite "is an unexpected windfall to the democracy, as it will enable them to more to democratize the judicial tribunal by the infusion of some of the old blood which prevailed in that court previous to the slaveholders' rebellion." It is more than likely that some one of the bourbon order who was in favor of the slaveholders' rebellion will be appointed, if we may judge the purposes of the administration by the appointment of Lamar. It will be some time, however, before the supreme court of the United States will fall into the hands of bourbon democrats. At present there are only two of the eight members of that class, Field and Lamar, and the appointment of Justice Waite's successor will make the political complexion of the court three democratic to six republican.

SOME WISE SENTENCES.

United States Senator Platt, of Connecticut, points out the duty of the republican party in regard to the saloon: "The saloon is the arrogant and vindictive enemy of the republican party, and it there were no higher motive than that of necessity, republicans should declare war on the saloon."

Ex-United States Senator Windom, of Minnesota, offers this statement: "As republicans we believe in the principles, the purposes and the mission of that old party which, with pen and sword, has written the proudest and sublimest pages of human history. Nor is the object of this movement merely to vitalize and strengthen that grand old party, but rather to hasten the time when it shall bring the mighty forces at its command into action, to curtail, restrict and destroy this evil, the most dangerous foe to the republic and the greatest evil which has ever afflicted human kind."

Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, one of the foremost of republican leaders, says: "I earnestly hope that the republican party in every state will in every practicable way wage warfare against the whole saloon system."

Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, the young, courageous and progressive republican champion, says: "I think that the republican party should go ahead, and I think that it will go ahead in this matter as it did on the great question of slavery. We will with the raw power as with the power of the slaveholders, and in every way. We will not let it off in every way we can. As we advocated the doctrine of prohibitory slavery in the territories, where we had the right and the power to do so, we will prohibit the sale of liquor in every place where a majority of the legal voters gives us the power to do it. We will try to restrict it and to maintain its evil to the very greatest extent that it is possible to go to."

A VOICE FROM THE SOUTH.

When Governor Rusk was traveling through the south this winter, he took special pains to gather all the information possible in regard to public sentiment concerning the administration and the tariff. On reaching Washington last week, when asked about what he had heard and seen, he said, "Southern democrats are out-spoken, not to say profane, in their estimate of President Cleveland's administration. They say they have no good from it, and if he succeeds with his tariff policy they want no more of him. Yet they will vote for him solidly, because, as they say, they hope to get what they want in other directions. They are strongly opposed to free trade in those parts of the south where I was. Even the rice planters in Georgia are angry over the proposed reduction of the duty on rice."

While in Georgia, Governor Rusk met Edwards Pierpont, formerly attorney general of the United States and minister to England, and from him he got the following information: He said all the old slaveholders had preserved lists of their slaves, and they were quietly waiting to claim indemnity for them when the democratic party could carry both branches of congress and the white house. They would have put in their claim by this time if they had a majority of the senate. Until they try that and fail the CHICAGO, March 24th.—The switchmen in the yards of the Santa Fe company in this city, struck this morning. This action on the part of the switchmen has effectively stopped the engineers and firemen had quit their posts.

It is said the Knights of Labor will take a hand to compel the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road to settle with their men.

A THEATRE BURNING.

Special to the Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24th.—The Grand Central theatre in this city is now burning.

IOWA GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Special to the Gazette.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONER BUT DISCUSSED CARDS DURING HIS VISIT TO THE HOUSE.

DES MOINES, Ia., March 24.—The Senate yesterday read the amended House railroad bill for the third time and passed it—yeas, 41; nays, nothing. It will now go to the House. The Senate then adjourned with the Young bill providing for the election of five Railroad Commissioners by the district system. Senator J. H. Smith moved as a substitute his bill providing for the election of three commissioners by the people of the State at large, one each year after the next general election. It is believed that the bill will become law.

The House had the same matter under consideration during a portion of the day, and passed a bill substantially in accord with the House bill, the vote thereon being 10 to 10. Under this bill the present board will hold office till January, 1890. The Chester Mining bill, providing for a uniform system for weighing coal at the mines of the State, passed the House. It provides that all coal mined under contract shall be weighed before screening, and that the full weight of all coal from refuse, slates or dirt shall be credited to the miner. The voting shall be done by seven voting-masters, each mining district having one, and the House also passed a bill to tax mineral estates when the surface and such mineral estates are owned by different persons. The object is to reach those cases where lands have been sold with a reservation of all minerals beneath the surface. The Columbus bill providing that all stockholders of corporations doing business in this State and incorporated under the laws of other States shall be personally liable to any citizen of this State for any indebtedness of such corporation to the extent of his or her stockholding, and the committee on making vigorous efforts to suppress it, as they feel the effects on foreign countries.

PACKING DISEASED PORK.

A Packer Testifies Before a Congressional Committee That It Is a Common Practice.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—There was a huge sensation in the House Committee on Agriculture yesterday. W. G. Burke, a St. Louis pork-packer, testified that legs which were affected with hog cholera were cut up and packed in slaughter-houses. He had often done it himself, and had no doubt as to the fact that the country had done so. He did not know that any harm ever came of it. At any rate, there was no denying or attempting to conceal the fact. His testimony was a great sensation, and the committee are making vigorous efforts to suppress it, as they feel the effects on foreign countries.

THE FISHERIES.

A Bill Introduced in the Dominion Commons to Ratify the Treaty.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 24.—In the House of Commons yesterday afternoon Minister of Justice Thompson introduced a bill to ratify the fishery treaty. He explained that the bill was ready for introduction when the notice was first given, but had been delayed in the House. Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Finance, would be present to introduce it himself. Owing to illness, however, he was unable to do so. The treaty, he said, ought not to have been published in the United States when it was. It was manifestly a breach of confidence on the part of some one connected with the printing of it, and not of the Government of the United States.

Indignities Against Colored Clergymen.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 24.—A conference of a number of clergy and lay of the Episcopal diocese of South Carolina have agreed upon a plan of action in regard to the indignities against colored clergymen. The diocesan convention of this State, which has caused so serious a disagreement to the Episcopal church. The plan provides for the organized and united action of all the churches of the diocese in the case of any indignity against colored clergymen. A proposition for an amendment of the canon and rules will be submitted for action to the next diocesan convention. It is held that it will remove all cause for future differences.

Fears of Great Loss of Life.

DORCHESTER, March 24.—Three shipwrecks are reported from the Atlantic coast. The schooner Ella went ashore at Chatham, Mass., and it is feared her crew have been lost. At Provincetown, the steamer Argus drifted the wreck of the British schooner Balmora, whose crew were lost in the storm of March 12.

Must Go to Prison.

CINCINNATI, March 24.—A new trial for James W. Byrnes, the seed merchant who was convicted of defrauding the Merchants Loan and Trust Company out of $15,000 by the issue of fraudulent warehouse receipts, has been denied by Judge Horton, and the sentence of three years' imprisonment in the penitentiary was pronounced yesterday.

Couldn't Agree.

COLUMBUS, O., March 24.—In the tally-sheet forgery case the jury disagreed, after having been out since Monday, and yesterday was discharged. The ballot had stood at ten to two for conviction ever since Tuesday.

We have sold Ely's Cream Balm about three years, and have recommended its use in more than a hundred special cases of catarrh. The unanimous answer to our inquiries is, "It's the best remedy that I have ever used." Our experience is, that where parties continued its use, it never fails to cure—J. H. Montgomery & Co., druggists, Decatur, Iowa.

I have used Ely's Cream Balm for dry catarrh (to which several persons are subject who come to live here). It has proved a cure. B. F. M. Weeks, Denver, Col.

THE VACANT CHAIR.

Talk of a Successor to the Late Chief-Justice Waite.

SEVERAL CANDIDATES IN THE FIELD.

Speaker Carlisle's Chances Deemed Good—Secretaries Bayard and Vinton, Attorney-General Garland and Dun M. Dickinson Mentioned.

WHO WILL FILL THE PLACE?

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The death of Chief-Justice Waite naturally suggests thoughts of his successor, and among members of Congress the discussion of the subject is going on. It is not yet decided who will be appointed to succeed him. The eight eligible justices are: Justice Bradley, New Jersey; Justice Gray, Massachusetts; Justice Blatchford, New York; Justice Matthews, Ohio; Justice Harlan, Kentucky; Justice Lamar, Mississippi; Justice Miller, Iowa; and Justice Field, California. Chief-Justice Waite was also from Ohio, but as that State still has a representative on the bench, the modest lawyers are not in the present line of consideration.

Associate-Justice Field is generally spoken of as one to succeed the Chief Justice. Justice Field possesses all the qualifications for the office, but his age is likely to operate against his selection. He is in his 70th year. In so far as partisan influence enters into the matter, the President's policy would dictate to the President the selection of a young man, that the chances of maintaining a Democratic head of the court might be increased.

The names of Secretary Bayard and Attorney-General Garland are also mentioned in connection with the succession, but the "senior" position is held by Speaker Carlisle. It is known that he was offered the seat that Justice Lamar now occupies before it was offered to that gentleman. He declined it very reluctantly, and his declining was as reluctantly received. But it was agreed between him and Mr. Cleveland, after talking the matter over, that the political situation partly necessitated Mr. Carlisle's presence in the House to organize it and to work to bring the party together for the passage of the tariff bill. The political reasons that then interfered are no longer in the way. The House is organized and all will be done that can be done towards passing the tariff bill and shaping party policy before it will be necessary to appoint Chief-Justice Waite's successor.

Judge Bradley and Jackson and Senator Morgan have been most prominently mentioned among those who, it is believed, stand a fair chance of succeeding to the position, and many others are talked of. There will be a lively and earnest contest for the place.

Des Moines, Mo., March 24.—Talk of a successor for the Chief Justice has already commenced here, and the name most frequently mentioned in connection with the office is that of Don M. Dickinson, of Michigan.

CHICAGO, March 24.—Speculation as to the probable successor to Chief Justice Waite was active yesterday afternoon and last night among lawyers of both parties and Democratic politicians of the higher grade. The field of possibilities was very thoroughly canvassed, and there was a general agreement that Illinois has claims to which President Cleveland should give serious consideration.

It is believed that the President might take advantage of the present opportunity to end the Vice-Presidential snarl in this State. Illinois Democrats have been howling for a national recognition, and if it should be given to them in the Supreme Court, Black, Morrison and Stevenson would be obliged to the way that Vice-Presidential aspirations for future success.

The lawyers generally did not seem to think that Illinois could present a very formidable list of available men for this high office. About the first name which seemed to occur to every one was that of Judge Lyman Trumbull, but on more mature reflection it was thought that his age put him out of the race. The penitentiary age of Supreme Court Justice is 70 years, and Judge Trumbull was 74 years of age in October last. Judge Scofield, of Clarke County, is looked upon as a good man for the place. Hon. Melville W. Fuller, ex-justice of the Supreme Court, either Minister Phelps or Secretary Bayard would receive the appointment. Mr. Fuller said: "Regarding the claims of the West a moment's thought will suggest the names of a number of men who are considered available. Wisconsin has Colonel Viles, of Madison; James G. Jenkins, of Milwaukee; and Judge Beattie, of Indiana. I suppose, if included in his list of candidates, Michigan, Senator T. C. Calkins, of Milwaukee, and Judge Beattie, of Indiana, would be included in his list of candidates."

Madison, Wis., March 24.—The announcement of the death of Chief Justice Waite has met Madison Democrats to talking as to his probable successor, and Colonel William F. Vilas seems to be the only name talked of. There seems to be a unanimous hope among them that President Cleveland will honor the gentleman from Wisconsin with a place which they assert he is eminently qualified to fill.

A TROUBLESOME BROTHER.

All Preparations Made for the Marriage of Miss Fellows to Charles, an Indian Chief.—The Prospective Bride's Brother on the Ground Ready to Create a Scene.

BRANSON, Mo., March 24.—Dakota is to be the scene of a brilliant social event to-day. Miss Cora Belle Fellows, the young lady who has found her ideal in the person of Charles, an Indian chief, is to go to the altar to-day. The wedding ceremony will be celebrated by a dance in Swift Bird's camp. The invitations proceed directly from the bride's father, and have been delivered by Charles in person to the guests. Among the latter, however, and minus an invitation, will be the bride's brother, who has arrived on the spot with the intention of interfering with the ceremony.

A Heavy Pension Claim Allowed.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The Interior Department officials disposed of a pension claim yesterday that for years has been a variable cause celebre. It was the claim of Captain E. Gillette, of West Chester, Kansas County, Ia., for total blindness. The amount which Gillette will receive is about $10,000 in arrears as well as a monthly pension of $72. This is said to be the largest sum ever paid to a private soldier as a pension.
